

Canal PREVENTION charter

Canal PREVENTION put online films:

- for free;
- following the agreement signed by the producer (see an example of agreement template on the French version);
- which are interesting for a wide audience and have the right to refuse any film which is not in line with the site's objectives;

Canal PREVENTION does not place online the following films:

- advertisements;
- which affect human dignity;
- which would stigmatise or discriminate people living with HIV.

The films which are available on Canal PREVENTION are devoted solely to sensitising and to preventing risks linked to AIDS. The association SIDA-ENTREPRISES, which created and manages the Canal PREVENTION site, will not be held responsible in case these films or their dissemination are not in line with national legislations. It is up to individuals who wish to use them to ensure that the film(s) are in compliance with local legislations.

The availability of films on Canal PREVENTION does not confer property rights on these films to any party. The films are to be disseminated as is, without any adaptation or changes. The association SIDA-ENTREPRISES, which created and manages the Canal PREVENTION site, will not be held responsible for any fraudulent action which would bring changes to original films.
